Kimberly's thoughts on her career moves:

I left my job as an HR Generalist with a small manufacturing company to accept the same type of work with a larger company.

I knew that I would not advance any higher in the previous organization and I wasn't done learning yet.

Once I was with the new company I was an HR Generalist for a couple of year and then I moved into a Sr. HR Generalist role, and eventually into the HR Manager position.
